MAY BE GREATEST THANKSGIVING DAY

Success of Arms Limitation Conference Would Make This Possible, Minister Asserts

ANNUAL UNION SERVICES

Rev. Walter L. Kunkel Points Out Greatest Problem is Far East and Pacific Questions

"America has the dominant position and only needs to say the word. Fair play, disarm, peace, and this will be the greatest Thanksgiving Day ever celebrated in America."

With this thought, uppermost, the Rev. Walter L. Kunkel, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, preached the annual Thanksgiving sermon at the union services held at the First United Presbyterian church this morning. The arms limitation conference and the questions confronting it was his theme.

He pointed out that this will be a Thanksgiving time for the whole world as well as the United States if the aims of the arms conference prevail, and discussed in detail the big problem confronting the conference, the Pacific, and Far East question.

The pastor said the thing which was demanding solution was the danger of conflict between the white and yellow races, speaking in part as follows:

This will be a Thanksgiving time for the entire world as well as our own country if the first real material step is taken toward disarmament and peace as suggested by our Secretary of State, Mr. Hughes. Diplomats are now inclined to listen to the moral and spiritual forces involved rather than just national and economic acrimony, remembering with Matthew Arnold "that by moral forces nations rise and fall".

As the Atlantic war cloud and smoke of battle clears away leaving devastation and ruin, and even greater problem comes to the fore in the Pacific, China instead of the Balkans is now the bone of contention. There must be a complete change in the attitude of the leading nations toward China and a beginning made to undo the wrongs done her in the past eighty years.

Two elements bring this war cloud near, the "White Peril" as viewed from the angle of Japan and China; and the rise of Japan as a world power representing the people of Asia with the thought of "Asia for the Asiatics."

The "White Peril" may be thus Continued on Page Three

JAMES M. GWINN, 74, DIES THIS MORNING

Veteran of Two Wars Expires at His Home Here Following Illness of Two Years

ORGANIZED 161ST INFANTRY

James M. Gwinn, age 74 years, a veteran of the Civil War and the Spanish American War, died this morning about six o'clock at his late residence 110 North Perkins street, death being caused from a complication of diseases, following declining health for two years.

He was born in Carroll county on October 3, 1847. He enlisted in Co. E, 11th Indiana regiment in 1863, and served for almost a year in the Civil War, and joined Company A as a private in 1864 where he served until September 4, 1865. He recruited Company H, 161st Indiana Volunteer Infantry for the Spanish American War and served with it as captain until April 30, 1899.

He was married to Rebecca Gray, daughter of the late George Gray, in 1874, and she died a few years ago. The deceased is survived only by relatives by marriage. About a year ago he underwent a serious operation, which prolonged his life, but on account of his advanced age, he failed to recover entirely. The funeral arrangements have not been made.

TRAFFIC IS OPENED TODAY

C. I. & W. Restores Services at Noon Following Wreck Wednesday

Traffic on the C. I. & W. railroad was opened shortly before noon today, when the wreckage of 20 freight cars near Liberty was cleared away. A portion of a bridge was torn away by the wreck which happened early yesterday morning. Passenger trains yesterday and last night were detoured from Cottage Grove over the C. & O. to Richmond and down to this city over the Pennsylvania. The passenger and mail train due here this morning at seven from Chicago also was detoured from this city today, but the track was opened shortly before noon so that the trains could be operated through the wreckage.

C. W. CAUBLE WILL ARRIVE HERE FRIDAY

Will Come in Advance of Big Flatrock Church Dedication to Make Preliminary Arrangements

SERVICES TO BE HELD SUNDAY

The Rev. C. W. Cauble of Indianapolis will arrive in Rushville tomorrow to make preparations for the dedication of the Big Flatrock Christian church, which will be held Sunday at an all day meeting. Services will be held in the morning and afternoon and a basket dinner will be served in the basement of the new edifice.

The Rev. Mr. Cauble will meet with the pastor of the church, the Rev. W. T. Crawley, and all of the men of the congregation, in the basement of the church Friday evening for the purpose of organizing for the dedicatory service.

The new building has just been completed, having been erected around the old frame church. It is of brick construction and contains all improvements common to a modern house of worship. The building committee which was in charge of construction is as follows: Grant Miller, chairman; Jesse Hungerford, secretary; Robert Campbell, treasurer; Alva Hungerford and Elmer E. Hungerford. The building was started last summer. Invitations have been sent throughout the county and a large attendance is expected.

EDGING BACK TO PROSPERITY--DAVIS

Secretary of Labor in Thanksgiving Day Message Says it is Time for Giving Thanks

UNEMPLOYMENT IS LESS

(By United Press)
Washington, Nov. 24—"Slowly but surely we are edging back to prosperity," so declared Secretary of Labor Davis in a Thanksgiving statement to the United Press today.

"It is truly time for giving thanks," he said. "With times still as sluggish as they are it may be asked what it is that we have to be thankful for? The answer is that the present condition of our country is vastly better than it was in mid summer. This statistical records amply prove.

"Slowly but surely we are edging back to prosperity and although the road ahead is still rough and although the point is of importance, we have much reason to have high encouragement.

"Unemployment is less. More men are at work. Merchants are reporting sales in greater number. The mills have more and larger orders. All over the country a better spirit prevails. Gradually industry is reviving. Buying is being restored.

"A return to prosperity has unmistakably set in. Considering the state of affairs last summer, the state that gave the most courageous of our leaders grave concern, is reason enough for giving of thanks.

"But having given thanks on Thursday, it is up to us to work all the harder on Friday and every day thereafter."

Thanksgiving

Our hearts are full of praise today,
To Him who built the hills,
And through our land there comes a hush,
Of a sacred song that fills
A nation's heart lifted high in praise,
Thanking the Father of All, for the days,
In bountiful harvest past, He has given,
Where with labor and toil, in hope we have striven.

With Thanksgiving and song to His shrine
we would go,

Our homage and love in gratitude show,
That we, as a nation, our God will trust;
For by His great power and wisdom we must
Be guided in all that is good and upright,
To keep our dear land in truth and the light,
To help other nations, this grand vision see,
Until the whole earth from war shall be free.

PLAN TO MINIMIZE THE HORROR OF WAR TENSENESS SEEN IN ARMS PARLEY

American Advisory Committee at Work Upon Various Suggestions to Bring Question Before Parley

PROPOSED NATIONS UNITE

At Conclusion of Program Arms Conference Might Consider Revision of the Rules of War

By LAWRENCE MARTIN
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Nov. 24.—Out of the arms conference may come proposals that the nations unite to minimize the horrors of war, if they cannot entirely prevent it.

The American advisory committee appointed by President Harding to assist the American delegation was today at work upon various suggestions which may bring this question before the conference.

Steps to prevent the use of poisonous gas in warfare will be considered by the advisory council late today.

Abolition of submarines or limitation of their size; use of poison gases and chemicals in war; the bombing of cities, and the development and use of new weapons were among the questions submitted to sub-committees of the advisory committee.

The suggestion has been made unofficially and informally that at the conclusion of its program the arms conference might well consider revision of the rules of war, so that if conflicts do occur in future, they may be less horrible instead of more so. In this connection it was pointed out today by an American naval officer that developments in aircraft, chemical warfare, construction of destructive bombs and other engineering of war are continuing on the basis of lessons learned in the last war and that even if armaments were limited the next war, should one occur, might well be more destructive than the last.

Consideration by the advisory committee of the abolition of the submarine grows out of Arthur Balfour's suggestion.

Another sub committee was directed to get the reaction of American public opinion to all questions thus far raised.

The Chinese proposals for settlement of the Far East question was referred to the Far East sub committee.

As America Gives Thanks, Nervous Irritation Appears When Delegates Lay Aside Politeness

HUGHES AS BALANCE WHEEL

Little Apprehension of Clashes so Long as Secretary of State Stays With Conference Text

(By United Press)

Washington, Nov. 24.—An atmosphere of nervous irritation preceded the arms limitation conference today as America was giving thanks for what has already been accomplished by it. This was due largely to the fact that for the first time the delegates had begun to lay aside their diplomatic super-politeness and talking the way they think.

With Secretary Hughes acting as the balance wheel to the conference and insisting that it sticks to its text, both on the armament and Far Eastern questions, there was little apprehension that various clashes of interest would not be adjusted.

For the moment, however, a slight tendency toward tenseness was noticeable. China and Britain were having an argument, mostly outside the conference, as to whether or not Britain is seeking specific provisions with respect to China's finance and trade. A British spokesman, with no official position, told newspaper men his government construed the proposals on China as meaning China would be under control of an international fiscal commission.

The Chinese, said Briand, had not expressed that viewpoint in the conference. Minister Sze, speaking for Chinese delegates, said that Briand's plan, as it prevails, would put his country under foreign control, only a step, he said, from actual political domination.

The French and Chinese also have a tilt. The French want to know what credentials the Chinese delegates had that entitled it to speak Continued on Page Three

CHARLES LAKIN, 21, IS DEAD

Young Man Expires After Illness With Tuberculosis

Charles Lakin, age 21 years, son of Mrs. Eva Lakin, died last night about six o'clock at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Lakin, with whom he made his home. The deceased had been ill for several years with tuberculosis. He was the son of the late Harry Lakin, who died a few years ago. Besides the mother and grandparents, he is survived by a brother Robert, who lives in Indianapolis.

The funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at two o'clock at the late residence, 824 N. Main street, in charge of the Rev. L. E. Brown, and burial will take place in East Hill cemetery.

PAST PRESIDENT SPEAKER

Ninety-three men enjoyed the annual banquet of the Rush County Horse Thief Detective association at the Knights of Pythias building Wednesday evening. The principal address was made by James R. Martin of Jamestown, Ind., past president of the National Horse Thief Detective association, who spoke of the activities of the association and gave members here a new insight into the organization.

Previous to the banquet eighteen new members were initiated into the county association at the court house. The banquet was served by the Pythian Sisters and Will McMillin, president of the county association, presided as toastmaster.

Short talks were made by Will Alexander, the Rev. James L. Brown of Arlington, a member of the class taken in last night, William A. Young of this city, Chief of Police Wilfong, Sheriff E. M. Jones and others.

WANT R. R. STATION IN WILLIAMSTOWN

Public Service Commission Hears Petition of Citizens For Depot Facilities in the Town

BIG FOUR MAKES OBJECTION

Attorney Matthews for the Indiana Public Service Commission held a hearing at Williamstown yesterday afternoon on the matter of the petition of Orlando Lee and others against the Big Four Railroad Company for station facilities at Williamstown.

Six representatives of the railroad company were present at the hearing and presented the company's side of the case. The railroad men were from Cincinnati and Wabash. They set out that the station which would require an agent, would be too costly since under the union rules, the company would have to pay an agent at least $125 per month.

Forty or fifty farmers were on hand and gave their views. Dr. Beall, Die Farlow, Orlando Lee, Walter Sefton and Mr. Arbuckle of the Milroy Tile Company were among those who spoke for the farmers who are petitioning for the station.

The station was abandoned by the railroad several years ago when the regular agent was pensioned. The commission will render a decision in a few days.

Robert C. Porter of Cincinnati, attorney for the Big Four, talked for the railroad company. He brought for his witnesses Messrs. Lamb and Merz of Cincinnati; Messrs. Browning and Randall of Indianapolis; Trainmaster Breckout of the Michigan division and Conductor Thomas. The hearing lasted two hours.

ORGANIZATION TO START NEXT WEEK

Canvassers For U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., Will Visit Every Township During Canvass

TOWNSHIP MEETINGS PLANNED

Organization is Non-Stock, Non-Profit Association to Handle and Sell Grain For Farmers.

A canvass for members in the U. S. Grain Growers, Incorporated, will be started in Rush county next week, it was announced today. Organizers will organize the county by townships, using the same methods as have been employed in Fayette and other counties in this section of the state.

The plan is to hold a meeting in each township in the county, at which the U. S. Grain Growers, Incorporated, will be fully explained by competent speakers, and afterwards each farmer in the township will be solicited to become a member.

James Covert of Franklin will be in charge of the organizers who have been assigned to this county, and he will be assisted by Scott Buell and Howard Ewbank of this county and Sam Gaddis of Columbus. Richland township will be the first organized.

The U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., is a non-stock, non-profit association. It will handle and sell grain at cost for its farmer members. No one but a farmer can be a member, sell grain through it or hold office in it. There is no way for any one to make any money out of it except the members themselves who grow the grain.

The U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., is not designed to upset existing commercial institutions. It is not an attempt to either create a monopoly or fix prices. It is imperative, however, that, if production is to be maintained and the people of the United States are to be fed at reasonable costs, agriculture must be placed on a sound business basis. Recognizing those facts, the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., provides the facilities for the grain growers of this country to enter upon a program of conducting their own business, in a business-like way. With that end in view, the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., will:

Stabilize prices on a profitable level by steady marketing as demand warrants and by contracts direct with mills and other consumers.

Eliminate short selling and manipulated markets by keeping grain in the farmers control until sold to a legitimate buyer.

Merchandise grain products in a business-like way comparable to that employed in other industries.

Export or pool for export grain not needed for domestic consumption so that speculators can not use a bounteous harvest to beat down the price at harvest time to a ruinous figure.

Furnish credit through the subsidiary finance corporation to grain growers who do not want to sell their crops at harvest time.

Learn the true condition of foreign supply and demand and avoid manipulation that has been made possible by false market reports.

Clean, mix, re-grade and condition the farmers grain in farm-owned conditioning plants.

Eliminate unnecessary and duplicated freight and handling charges by shipping grain direct from the country station to the miller or exporter.

Pro-rate the savings made by efficient and economic marketing back to the farmer in proportion to the amounts and grades of grain which he sold through the company.

G. I. Christie of Purdue Comments on Value of Annual Grain and Hay Show Exhibits

$10,000 PREMIUM LIST

International Grain Exposition Will Have 6,000 Entries in The Corn Show Department

(By United Press)

Chicago, Nov. 24—The gates will swing open, Saturday November 26, on the most comprehensive assortment of grain and forage crops ever brought together. The number of samples at this year's International Grain and Hay Show, which is held in connection with the International Livestock Exposition, will approach the 6,000 mark.

"The annual Grain and Hay Show" said Prof. G. I. Christie, Purdue University, superintendent of the exhibit, "has already demonstrated its tremendous value in the encouragement of better agriculture and better country life. It means increased yields, less waste and greater prosperity."

For years there had been an urgent need for an international grain exposition. After attempts to make the show self-supporting had failed the Chicago Board of Trade volunteered to post a $10,000 premium list for the best samples exhibited. This brought spontaneous success.

Since then Board has twice renewed its offer, and the event now seems destined to become a permanent institution. It is sponsored and aided by the federal and provincial government of two national and by the leading crop organizations of the western world. The fact that it is conducted not for profit but solely in the interest of agriculture accounts for the united support received from all farm organizations.

More than a thousand ten-ear samples of corn form a part of the exhibit. Premiums are offered for single and ten-ear samples each of white and yellow corn; for exhibits of wheat, oats, barley, rye, soybeans, cowpeas and field peas, and for samples of seed and hay, including red alsike and sweet clover, alfalfa and timothy. One of the new features this year is a Junior Corn Contest participated in by several hundred boys.

At the entrance of the Grain and Hay Show a giant ear of corn will stand sentinel. It is thirty feet high. Sixty bushels of corn were required to build the freak. It is known as the "Dream of the Corn Farmer".

There will be miniature farms, complete in every detail. The exhibit of the United States Department of Agriculture, which covered 3,000 square feet last year, will be even larger this year. Luther Burbank and other wizards of the soil will be represented by exhibits. One of these shows the evolution of corn from Indian grass. Burbank accomplished in a few years the same result which took the Indians centuries to attain.

Canada's entry list and delegation of field experts will be 50 percent larger than last year.

The first continental congress met in Philadelphia September 5, 1774.

Its a useless waste of good fuel and needless extravagance to try to burn it in a poor stove. It is absolutely wrong to expect good food to supply energy, vitality, health and happiness, if your stomach won't absorb and assimilate it. TO BAND TOGETHER TO TIDE FARMERS OVER

Farmers of Middle West Consider This as an Alternative if Bankers Refuse to Loan Money

TO MEET BANKERS TUESDAY

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 24.—Farmers of the middle west may band together into a mutual benefit organization for the purpose of tiding members over the period of low market prices and "tight money".

E. E. Reynolds, secretary of the Indiana Federation of Farmer's Association, intimated this was under consideration as an alternative if the bankers refuse to loan money to the farmers many of whom face bankruptcy if they are forced to sell their crops at prevailing prices in order to liquidate obligations.

The farmers are looking forward to their conference with the bankers next Tuesday. Results of this meeting will determine whether the farmers shall form a financing body of their own and sell shares in it.

The meeting will be confined to Indiana, but farmers throughout the middle west are watching it with interest because if it terminates for the benefit of the Indiana farmers similar action likely will be taken in other states.

Eugene Meyer, managing director of the War Finance Corporation, will try to bring the farmers and the bankers together here under a plan by which the bankers obtain money from the corporation and loan it to the farmers. In this way the bankers would be merely distributors of financial aid for the federal government.

"MAIN STREET" ACTOR SHOPS ON MAIN STREET

Leading Man With New York Show, Drops off in Noblesville and Buys His Entire Costume

AND ON MAIN STREET TOO

Noblesville, Ind., Nov. 24—This city is lavishing its pride on the rest of the world today.

McKay Morris who plays the part of the Gopher Prairie medie Dec. Kennicott, in "Main Street" at the National Theatre, New York, bought his third act bed room togery here—all of it!

As Morris was motoring through here with a friend he espied a pair of pink striped pajamas hanging in a store window.

"There is Doc., Kennicott's nighty", he exclaimed as he slammed on the brakes.

"Yes, and there is his bath robe," replied his friend.

A green spotted bath robe was decorating a charming wax figure with little blond mustache.

Lorris made these purchases and he found Noblesville so auspicious a costuming center went to other stores on Main street and bought a suit, shoes—in fact everything he wears in the play.

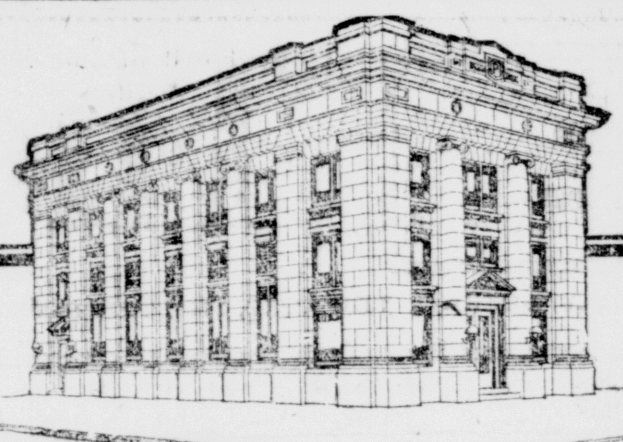

Thus—great is the glory which has been thrust upon this city!

ADJOURNS AND FATTY FEASTS

Court Not Held Today in Arbuckle Manslaughter Case Account of The Holiday

STRANGE CONTRAST IS SEEN

Fat Comedian Has Many Things to be Thankful For, Among Them Testimony of Medical Expert

San Francisco, Calif., Nov. 24.—The court had a rest today while Roscoe Arbuckle destroyed a huge Thanksgiving dinner. The big comedian's trial on the charge of having taken the life of Virginia Rappe, stood adjourned until tomorrow morning.

Behind drawn blinds of his brother's modest home here, the man whose holiday parties were at one time the talk of movediam, was to eat Thanksgiving turkey with no bevy of cafe favorites or rollicking coterie of friends gathering at the table.

His wife, Minta Durfee, his brother, Arthur, and wife and possibly intimate friends were to make up what probably is Arbuckle's quietest Thanksgiving in decades.

The big man had more reasons to be thankful, than at any time since Virginia Rappe's death. His particular thanks was due to Dr. Asa Collins, nationally known medical expert who aided Arbuckle in a technical and largely unprintable testimony late yesterday.

Collins, the first of the medical experts the defense is expected to call, laid the basis for these contentions that Virginia Rappe received her fatal injuries in a hypodermic given her in an attempt to stop her hysterics after Arbuckle's alleged attack; that dancing and other activities might have caused her injury; that the rupture from which she died may have been spontaneous; that many of these explanations were rendered possible through the effects of drinking a combination of gin and orange juice of which she is known to have partaken.

FURS STOLEN FROM EXPRESS

Car on Pennsylvania Train Looted Near Charlottesville

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 24.—An express car on the Pennsylvania railroad was looted of valuable furs between Charlottesville and Indianapolis last night, the police were informed today.

The furs were consigned from New York to St. Louis and their value can not be determined until the car reaches St. Louis and a check-up is made.

The conductor on the train said the seal had not been broken at Charlottesville where the train stopped for a few minutes. Police believe the thieves threw their loot out of the car while the train was moving. Several bundles of fur were cut open.

Charley Davis of Center township, who stood trial yesterday afternoon in Justice Stech's court, was found guilty of an attempted assault by the jury, and they assessed his fine at $6 and costs. The case occupied the greater part of the afternoon. There are two charges pending against the defendant, one being for trespass and the other for profanity, and they will be tried at an early date. Each side used several witnesses, the state having 16 and the defense 12. Tittsworth and Tittsworth, attorneys, appeared for the defendant, and Prosecutor Stevens presented the case for the state.

concisely stated. One-third of the population of the earth controls nine-tenths of the habitable area. In 1500 the White race controlled only one-tenth of the area of the earth, but with the aid of the invention of the compass and gunpowder by the Chinese, started on a military and naval career taking the Americas, Australia the most of Africa and a large part of Asia. China is looked upon as containing the most honey of all waiting for the White race only to extract it. Her cheap labor and vast mineral resources tempt avaricious nations as the Yukon did the gold hunter. In 1842 England after the infamous opium war established a large sphere of influence in China, to be followed by Russia and France. The indignant Chinaman revolted in what was called the Boxer uprising in 1900 only to get deeper into the meshes of the net of the White Race, for not only did he have to pay a huge indemnity but Germany also took over the Shantung province and fastened her teeth in a part of the juicy bone of contention. A Christian Japanese statesman said the other day to a missionary, "The white race has taken the world from Alaska to Australia and shut us out. We must have a place in Asia for economic and racial expansion, but you do not want us to have it, you want Asia too. Does the White Race want the whole earth?"

The expansion of the White race has arrived at the gates of Japan and has met this worthy and indignant antagonist who also wants a large share in the spoil of China and learns her methods of militarism and navalism from her white brethren. The white nations have in fact forced the hands of the Japanese.

In 1894 China and Japan went to war with respect as to which should control Korea which country was then in a bad state of affairs. Japan won the war and proceeded to the control of Korea, but Russia, Germany and France formed an alliance and told Japan to get out Japan had to comply. What followed, these three nations took part of China for themselves and Russia pushed right down to Port Arthur as a dagger pointed at the heart of Japan. The Russo-Japanese war ensued, Russia was forced to withdraw. Is it any wonder the people of Japan believe in their army and navy as their only hope of protection, especially when history teaches them that the white race has taken nine-tenths of the habitable world and is still in the process of taking the rest?

Our Country is the hope of the world to those who believe in considering fair play rather than national selfishness and the unscrupulous exploitation of the weak. We have had no part in the division of China, yet our hands are not altogether clean. We have had a large territory of our own to exploit, and we still have our hands on the Philippines. Our country has spoken for the open Door in China. If our country now demands that Japan withdraw soon from China the same demand should be made to other nations who hold a part of China's territory. Give China the same chance we have given Mexico. America has the dominant position and only needs to say the word "Fair Play", Disarm, Peace, and this will be the greatest Thanksgiving Day ever celebrated in America. The brotherhood of man and the fatherhood of God will be brought much nearer realization in the hearts of mankind.

for all of China, inasmuch as the Canton government does not recognize the authority of Peking, where the Chinese delegation has its credentials.

The Chinese produced complete credentials and replied they represented in one way at least the universal sentiment of China — that other nations should leave her alone to work out her own destination.

Italy spoke sharply to France regarding land armament at a meeting of the committee on land armament during which Premier Briand, as a farewell to the conference, again discussed France's military position. Schanzer, the Italian delegate, told the French and the rest of the conference that Italy was disturbed about the land armament on account of the big armies being maintained in Jugo-Slovakia, Serbia, Greece, France and Poland.

Keep Your Feet on The Ground

For America there is one great outstanding danger in connection with the Washington arms conference.

We are all expecting great things as a result of the parley, but as to just what those expectations are many people are groping in darkness.

We are looking for something to turn up and relieve us of the burdens under which we are staggering.

Something may turn up, but under the most favorable conditions even we can not hope to feel any immediate relief. Only time can produce those results.

In turning our eyes toward Washington we must not forget the work at our elbow. That must be done. It can not be slighted. It is upon immediate work that we must depend for early relief, for it can come from no other source.

That is the danger—forgetfulness of the present in dwelling upon the hope of the future.

Judge Judges Jury

An Ohio judge dismissed a jury of seven men and five women serving on an assault case in his court and forbade them all further jury service during the current term. He felt the decision rendered by the jury was not in accordance with the evidence and characterized the jurors as "using poor judgment and unfit for jury service."

If this sort of public rebuke and dismissal were more common, jury service would be improved and the process known as "cleaning up the courts" would be speeded. The individual juror facing the disgrace of dismissal would feel his own responsibility more. The public would be aroused to the question of fitness in jurors and the best way to secure it. The judge himself, by reason of his arbitrary action, would come in for public scrutiny as to his own honesty, freedom from prejudice and fitness for his position. Out of it all should come real efficiency in the administration of justice.

No, you can't escape 'em. The summer siren simply transforms herself into the winter vamp and keeps on a-go!

"Keep your smile" is the advice handed out by a local philosopher. But handing it on to others would be better.

It isn't to be wondered at that some men are unable to withstand prosperity. They never have a chance.

Mr. Harding need no longer worry over his place in history. He has been making some wonderful scores at golf.

The brains of the world are now centered in Washington. Here's hoping they function.

Bright Spots in News

Chicago—Co-eds may wear galoshes this season, but they must not flop, the University of Chicago decreed.

"No lady would let her galoshes flop" a bulletin stated.

Chicago.—James Robert Pope indorses the Washington disarmament conference. His wife started a series of fights with him, he told the court and the most serious one stopped the first act of a show for five minutes. Divorce.

St. Louis—Attorney Julian Laughlin punched Montague Punch, another lawyer in the jaw in an argument during a trial—$25 fine.

AMUSEMENTS

"Cappy Ricks" at Princess

Ivan Linow, the two hundred and thirty-pound wrestler who has an important role with Thomas Meighan in "Cappy Ricks" a Paramount picture, which comes to the Princess Theater again today, is strenuous. One of the last scenes in "Cappy Ricks" revealed Linow standing on the stern of a tug boat tossing a rope to a storm-tossed vessel in the offing. It was impossible to take the close-up at sea where the remainder of the storm scenes were shot, and a set was built for this episode in the Paramount Eastern studio.

The stern of the tug was set in a tank of water twelve feet deep, and with a sprinkler system pouring its rain upon him and the wind from a giant propeller blowing him about, Linow stood ready to throw the rope. At the given word from Tom Forman, the director, he heaved the rope above his head, but his aim was bad.

The knotted end of the heavy line struck a spotlight operator who tumbled off his perch. Linow, also, came to grief. In throwing the rope he lost his balance and toppled over in the tank, from which he was fished sputtering much water and Russian profanity.

Carmel Myers is Coming

The romance of the old world, the struggle and strife of the new world, mingled with an atmosphere that is like no other in any part of the world, are to be found in the latest Universal feature, "The Kiss", starring Carmel Myers, and coming to the Mystic Theatre on Friday.

There are men and women alive today who recall the California days under Spanish rule; the stately old missions still attract thousands of tourists to the Pacific Coast Southland each year, the padres still count their beads and give their blessings; and yet the California of the "Dons" is as European under Napoleon or Rome under the Caesars.

Comparatively few dramatists and novelists have touched upon this, probably the most picturesque period in the development of this country, and yet every novel and every play of early California has met with instant success. Some years ago David Belasco, himself a California, staged a play in New York called "The Rose of the Rancho". Its scenes were laid in Southern California under the old regime, and it scored one of the biggest theatrical successes in years. It made a favorite of Frances Starr, and ran for years in all parts of the country.

In the Franklin Square hotel where two whole floors have been given up to the British for offices, an American visitor would feel almost strange. As he steps off the elevator

LOCALS KEEP A LEAD

Varsity Wins by Score of 29 to 16
and Seconds Take Visitor's
Scalp With Score 17 to 6

The Rushville high school annexed another victory last night when they took the long end of a 29 to 16 score from the Spiceland Academy, and the second team from the local school also came out winners over the visiting second team by the count of 17 to 6.

Rushville started off first in the scoring when Pugh dropped one through after the team had worked the ball through the Spiceland defense, and in a second later, Casady followed Pugh for another ring, putting Rushville four points in the lead right at the start.

Magee, center for the visitors attempted to even matters up when he caged a field goal, but Casady again registered a field marker and the score was doubled 6 to 3 when Stieckler made a point on a foul.

From this point on, Rushville seemed to have things their own way, and Spiceland was baffled by the strong defense put up by the locals, and they began shooting wildly from all parts of the floor. Several substitutions were made in the first half by the visitors in an attempt to regain the lost points.

When the half mark rolled around the score stood 18 to 9 with Rushville on top.

In the last half Spiceland put up a game attempt to rally and forge ahead and scored first on a foul goal. Rushville then went up to 23 points before Spiceland scored again and for several minutes the two teams battled up and down the floor with the score 25 to 11.

Spiceland registered only two field goals in the last half, and they were made in quick succession.

Pugh appeared at forward and handled the position in a most creditable manner, putting in five field goals and three foul shots. Casady, his helper at forward counted four markers for the time that he was in the game, but he retired in favor of Sparks shortly after the second half began.

Headlee played a swift game at center and counted for three field goals, and in the last half he went out and Sommerville took his place.

Phillips at floor guard was unable to score, but he put considerable speed in the game and was good at his position. It is needless to say that the guarding of Frazee at back guard was responsible largely for the visitors downfall. He picked the ball off the back board at all times, and blocked many a good play.

For the visitors Stieckler at forward stood out prominently, but Cati and Magee also helped in the team's passing. The greatest problem that Spiceland was confronted with was the close guarding of Rushville, and most of their shots at the basket had to be made from the center of the floor.

Rushville played loosely at times, but in pinches tightened up, and waded through to their goals several times. Several beautiful shots were made by each team and Stieckler for Spiceland proved almost certain on foul goals, making five points in this manner.

On Friday night Rushville will take on Greenfield here, and it will be the first time that these two teams have clashed for several seasons.

The line-up and summary:

Rushville (29) Spiceland (16)
Pugh F Stieckler
Casady F Cati
Headlee C Magee
Phillips G Lacey
Frazee G Applegate
Substitutions: Rushville, Sparks for Casady, Sommerville for Headlee, Spiceland, Holloway for Applegate; Starbuck for Magee. Field goals, Pugh 5, Casady 4, Headlee 3, Stieckler, Cati 2, Magee. Foul goals, Stieckler 5, Magee 3, Pugh 3, Phillips 2. Referee Evans.

In the preliminary contest, Rushville's second team walked away from the Spiceland second team in the last half, and registered a 17 to 6 victory. The first period was a close affair, with the locals leading at the end with a 5 to 4 score.

In the last half Crimm got through

Stories About Being Stale

JACK DEMPSEY LEAD THE WAY

Acted Like He Was Getting Out of Practice and Encouraged Other
Boxers to Fight Him

(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
By HENRY L. FARRELL
New York, Nov. 24.—Every time business gets bad a boxer "goes back".

When opponents become few and cash scarce the big fighters stimulate trade by getting not so good as they used to be.

Last winter Jack Dempsey was pining away for a little work and the heavy weights were all wanting as much money to be the victim as he wanted to be the victor.

Bill Brennan came along and went twelve rounds with the champion, twelve rounds in which the champion "looked terrible".

Then every big fellow in the game thought he had a chance for the title and Georges Carpentier was so sure he could get Dempsey while he was shipping that he was willing to cut a hundred thousand off his price for the privilege of winning the crown.

The Frenchman thought the same thing until he got one poke from the champion's left and he realized then that if Dempsey had gone back, it was a good thing he had never met him when he was good.

Benny Leonard hasn't been working much. The lightweights all pass him up because he's too good. They want a fortune to be knocked off and Benny has to associate with the welters.

Last night, Leonard went eight rounds against Sailor Friedman in Philadelphia and they say this morning "He was terrible".

The insiders say that he has gone back; that he can't make the weight that he's afraid of his hands; that his judgment is gone, and his speed vanished.

It was a no-decision bout and as long as the champion was on his feet at the end he "successfully defended his title".

for several shots and Dagler also contributed 2, while Spiceland made only 1 lone field goal. The score and summary:

Rushville (17) Spiceland (6)

Dagler F Griffin
Wilson C Pickering
Mellwain G Schwartz
Poston G Sheppard
Substitutions: Spiceland, Yankey, Harter, Coffin, Rushville, Lucas and Stamm. Field goals, Crimm 4, Dagler 3, Yankey. Foul goals, Carr 2, Griffin 2, Crimm 3. Referee Evans.

USED TO BE SEVEN GAMES

Commissioner Landis is in Favor of Reduction But Owners Point Out
Benefits of 9 Games

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

New York, Nov. 24.—Reduction of the world's series from nine games back to the old standard of seven games, which has been advocated by Commissioner Landis, is not getting a shout of approbation from the club owners.

When this interesting bit of new business comes before the magnates of the two major leagues at their annual December conclaves, it may prove a stumbling for the commissioner.

Considering the high price of everything and the great outlay of cash that comes with the honor of being a pennant winner, the club owners maintain that they run the chance of losing money on a seven game series, especially if one club should win in straight games.

Looking at the $900,000 gate the last classic in New York, the claim seems on the surface to be absurd, but digging down and uncovering the many side channels into which a large part of the receipts find their way, it seems legitimately a bad piece of business to win a pennant.

Each of the New York clubs made about $80,000 on the late series. Had either the Giants or the Yanks followed the footsteps of the Boston Braves, who beat the Athletics in straight games back in 1904, both of the participants would have lost money.

Eight and a half cents of every dollar taken in at the first five games went to each one of the contending clubs and the series expenses had to be paid out of that. The lavish way in which both clubs entertained the newspapermen and friends ran into thousands of dollars.

Under the present arrangement, the Advisory Board and the two league treasuries get the largest cut of the receipts. The $42,500 salary which Commissioner Landis gets forced the Advisory Board to increase its share from ten to fifteen percent of the receipts.

The players get 60 percent of the receipts of the first five games. The increase in this "cut" from the old scale was made necessary by the ruling to give the second and third place clubs in each league a share of the spoils.

After the commissioner's share and the two leagues' share are deducted, the club owners haven't much left out of their forty percent. Better breaks come after the fifth game. Eighty five percent of the receipts are divided fifty-fifty with the league treasuries. In the event of an eighth and ninth game the league profit most, as the club owners must turn over seventy five percent to their respective leagues.

So it seems, figuring it all up, that there is little but glory for the club owners, who get into the series. In the case of the rich New York clubs this is fair enough, but supposing St. Louis should win the pennants next year, which is not at all improbable, the proposition would not be fair for the risk and the expense involved.

If the magnates do accept the recommendation to return to the old seven game arrangement, it is probable that they will insist upon a rearrangement of the process of division which will give the pennant winner a better break.

MORRISTOWN SNOWED UNDER

The Morristown high school basketball team was snowed under last night by the Milroy high school at Milroy, by the one sided score of 48 to 8. The visiting team could not make much headway with the strong Milroy team, and Milroy scored almost at will during the game. Carthage will play at Milroy on Friday night, and the two teams are said to be evenly matched, and a hard contest is expected.

A Laugh Or Two

Her Conception of God

Young daughter was apparently thinking on a very serious matter. Suddenly she blurted out to her mother.

"Mother," she said with some deliberation, "why isn't daddy God?" "Just because he isn't," was the reply, followed by the question, "But child, what makes you ask such a question?"

"Cause I thought if daddy was God, we would have lots of money and could have everything we want."

Slipping One Over Regularly

The young son, who is not yet old enough to go to school, let a "darn" slip unexpectedly from his lips in the presence of his mother, the other day.

"Why ——" said stern mother, attempting to look very cross and severe. "Don't you know that is a very naughty word."

"Excuse me mother," replied the son dutifully, and acting very much humiliated, "I say that often but you never heard me before."

Ships That Pass in The Night

It is that way with people who have once enjoyed the privilege of living in Arkansas. They may go away, but they come back sooner or later, and always sooner.

A Shawnee, Oklahoma, paper comments upon the passage through that city of an old-fashioned covered wagon, the "prairie schooner" sort. On the side of the cover was the traditional tourist sign. In this case it read:

"Texas is starvation, Oklahoma is speculation, New Mexico is desperation. The whole world shot to hell with the Harding administration. I'm going back to Arkansas."

The exhibit was prepared at the invitation of officers in charge of the Exposition, which is held annually at the Coliseum, Union Stock Yards, Chicago, and is the largest live-stock event in the United States. The Government exhibit is largely pictorial, and has been designed along popular lines to appeal to the general public. NORTHERN PART OF STATE

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 24.—The question as to the right of instructors in the public schools to chastise unruly pupils again has been raised in the northern part of the state, according to information reaching the state superintendent of public instruction. The trouble in this instance occurred at Palestine in Kosciusko county, where the teacher, a young man, took it upon himself to correct several small boys in the old-fashioned way by placing them across his knees and applying a ruler.

The boys reported the chastisements to their parents and a delegation of fathers of the youngsters called on the instructor and warned him against any further punishment in the form of whippings. This seems to have settled the matter for the present at least. The parents before visiting the teacher first satisfied themselves that the instructor had no right, either by law or through any ruling of the state board, to administer such punishment.

Patrons of the school appear to be divided on the question as to whether the right of chastizing pupils should be taken away from the instructor. Some of them are supporting the teacher in his action, asserting that his authority would be nullified to an extent if he was restricted in the form of punishment to be administered to pupils, but the matter appears to have been settled with the promise of the teacher not to whip the pupils of the parents who offered objections.

TO AID UNEMPLOYMENT

Evansville, Ind., Nov. 24.—As a solution to the unemployment situation in Evansville, Mayor Bosse proposed the expenditure of $300,000 in an improvement program. His program includes the beautifying of parks, building of viaducts and streets and the development of a municipal athletic field. Bosse proposes to use the $60,000 received annually for the city sinking fund to meet the expenses of the program.

Big Flatrock Christian Church
Will Be Dedicated on Sunday

The Big Flatrock Christian church was organized by Elder Gabriel McDuffee in 1852. The first elders were Elias T. Hilligoss and Wm. T. Hardy; the first deacons were Samuel G. Piper, Gideon Corey, Ethen A. Willey and James Hardwick, Sr. The first services were held in the homes of different families and in the woods near where the church now stands, and in the barn of Samuel G. Piper.

The church was erected in 1856. The carpenters were Sexton Layton, contractor, assisted by Gideon Corey, Wm. Parsons, Henry McRoberts, Arthur Layton and George Willey. The lumber was sawed by Calvin Hungerford; the shingles were made on the ground, and the flooring and finishing were made and planed by hand. The building of this church required great sacrifice of the faithful men and women, many walking five or six miles to attend the religious services. We owe a debt of gratitude and thanks to these soldiers of the cross for their faithfulness.

DUTCH NOTABLES
FORM DELEGATION

Dr. Van Karnebeek, Head Delegate, is Held in High Esteem by European Statesmen

FATHER HAD A CAREER

Was President of Carnegie Institute in Holland and Vice President of Hague Tribunal

(By United Press)
Washington Nov. 24.—The Dutch delegation consists of Dr. H. A. Van Karnebeek, Minister of Foreign Affairs; Dr. E. Moresco, and Dr. F. Beelaerts van Blokland, formerly Minister-Resident in Peking.

The fact that he was chosen as president of the second session of the Assembly of the League of Nations evidences the high regard in which Dr. van Karnebeek is held by European statesmen.

Van Karnebeek's father was President of the Carnegie Institute in Holland and vice-president of The Hague Conference in 1907. During seven years as mayor of The Hague van Karnebeek exhibited administrative qualities and diplomatic talents which brought him into line for the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. One of the first international complications with which he had to deal arose from the arrival of the ex-Kaiser Wilhelm in Holland just after the Armistice. Karnebeek never moved an inch from the stand he took then—that Holland could do nothing but afford safe asylum to the German ex-emperor—notwithstanding the storm of criticism in the allied press.

Van Karnebeek is now beyond question the most popular statesman in Holland.

Dr. E. Moresco, the second member of the delegation, has had a brilliant career in the Colonial service. In 1913 he went to Dutch East India as first secretary of the government, and in 1916 he was made general secretary to the colonial department at The Hague. Recently he was appointed vice-president of the Council of India. Dr. Moresco is a Jew, his family many years ago having immigrated from Portugal on account of the racial tolerance in that country.

The third delegate, Dr. F. Beelaerts van Blokland, is an authority on the Far East. As Minister of the Dutch Government in Peking he was able to study at first hand, not only the problem of the Pacific, but various problems in which China particularly is involved.

LABOR MOVEMENT
IN JAPAN ACTIVE

Much Alarm in Country at Increasing Number and Intensity of Strikes—Movement Still Young

NO PROSPECT OF SOLUTION

Most Encouraging Development Was The Recent Success of Shipyard Strikers in Yokohama

By CLARENCE DUBOSE
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Tokyo. (By Mail)—There is much alarm in Japan at the increasing number and intensity of strikes.

The growing boldness of the workers must be suppressed, says one school or the nation will be imperiled.

Others maintain that out of the turmoil Japan will profit by reaching a mutually satisfactory and advantageous status between labor and capital and eventually, a more generally representative government.

But at present there is no prospect of a solution. The workers are acting with more and more assurance, becoming more and more threatening. Capital yields reluctantly, and, until recently had been forced to yield scarcely at all.

Of course, the labor movement is still in its swaddling clothes—or kimono—in Japan. But it is kicking and squalling most lustily for an infant, and one who had been spanked and suppressed a good deal, at that.

The most encouraging development to the workers was the recent success of shipyard strikers, in Yokohama. They threatened sabotage, and demanded a forty percent wage increase. They got it. The news stimulated the labor world of Japan as nothing else has. A number of small strikes broke out within a few days. Even the sake workers in a plant near Tokyo were emboldened to walk out, demanding more pay. Sake is a rice wine, the national drink of Japan, and a few years ago the idea of workers at the honorable industry quiting their jobs in a huff would have been ridiculously preposterous. It is this spirit of daring, of toppling over traditions, that is so alarming, to everybody except the laboring people themselves.

The public declaration by the Yokohama shipyard strikers of their intention to use sabotage was an unprecedented thing. Those who have watched the labor movement develop with the spread of industrialism in Japan regard it as astounding, and possibly, as the presager of many serious future struggles.

Strikes were unheard of in Japan until recent years, although they are almost daily occurrences now. Labor unions, in the American or English sense, do not exist. The development of such labor groups as do exist has been carefully watched and regulated by the authorities. Anything smacking remotely of socialism has been promptly snuffed. Socialism has been exceedingly unprofitable in Japan since twelve of its propagandists were hanged as public enemies in 1910.

At present the ship and dockyard workers in Yokohama and Nagasaki are the most active and successful strikers. They are staging a sort of continuous performance. When the employees in one plant win, those of another walk out. With the prospective rice shortage and consequent increases in the already very high cost of living, the movement is expected to spread. Already in some manufacturing plants demands have been presented for a graduated wage increase contingent upon and proportionate to the increased price of rice.

NO SPECIAL DINNERS TODAY
County Institution Inmates Get No Special Spread—Business Stops

Inmates of the county poor asylum were served with a roast pork dinner today. The Thanksgiving day bird was missing and the authorities of the farm said that the old people in the institution preferred fresh pork to chicken because butchering has just been finished at the farm. There are now twenty-eight persons at the county farm. No special Thanksgiving dinner was served at the jail, as there is only one man in jail, Robert Frazier, accused of assault and battery with intent, who will go on trial in the circuit court Friday.

Business was completely stopped here today on account of the holiday. With few exceptions, stores closed all day and the banks and public offices were also closed. The rural mail carriers delivered no mail and likewise no mail was delivered

EYES ARE TURNED
NOW ON GERMANY

Country Must Announce Her Willingness to Co-operate in the Preservation of Peace

UP TO FRANCE TO ACCEPT

Out of The Case Will Come European Disarmament or a Threat of Future Wars

By WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN
(Copyright 1921 by U. P.)

Washington, Nov. 23.—Its Germany's next move.

Premier Briand's speech has precipitated what seems to be the only issue in the conference and proves again the value of open discussion. He tells why France feels that she must maintain a considerable army. As long as no reason for this was given no answer could be made.

But now that the world knows the reason all eyes are turned on Germany. If she comes forward and, through her government announces her willingness to cooperate in the preservation of peace it will be up to France to accept the assurances or show why they should not be accepted.

The case is now in court; the jury has been selected and the trial is in progress. Out of it will come European disarmament or a threat of future wars that will make it impossible to carry out the program of naval disarmament.

The situation will increase in interest until the jury returns its verdict. France will receive greater assurance than she asks or has suggested. It will be in a European disposition for peace which, as Secretary Hughes says will be more valuable than an army.

Peace in Europe is not impossible. The conference might take a lesson from chemistry. Oxygen and hydrogen, when in the form of gas, will ignite at any ratio except 11-20, but when they are brought together at the proper ratio they form water, which puts out fire.

Question: How can France and Germany be brought together? As long as they are hostile, there may at any time produce war; if they can be properly united, they can insure European peace.

Japan is receiving congratulations on every hand. Her action in extending the helping hand to China gives to her one of the great victories thus far won in the conference.

In Rushville, which is contrary to the usual custom, because formerly on holidays one city delivery was made.

PUTS PEP
INTO A MAN

Says Mr. Chadwick When He Is Run-Down, Tired Out And Worn Out

H. M. CHADWICK

Urbana, Ill.—"I am a Locomotive Engineer, and was run-down, tired, worn-out, dragged out and had no pep." I have a family of four, but I felt so badly I could not work. My druggist told me about Vinol, and I found it to be just the right medicine for my trouble. I took five bottles and I gained in weight and health so I feel like a new man. Vinol cannot be beat to put "pep" into a man. It is certainly a great strength builder and I have found it to be all that it is recommended. H. M. Chadwick, Urbana, Ill.

The reason Vinol restored Mr. Chadwick to health so quickly is because he needed the blood making, strength creating elements of iron and beef peptones contained in Vinol, together with the tissue building principles of the concentrated cod liver extractives. $1.00 per bottle, guaranteed. CITIZEN DONATES STRIP OF LAND

Claude Robinson Gives State Piece of Land in Order to Make New Entrance Into Park

AT TURKEY RUN RESERVE

State Will Widen the Roadway and Make a Safe and Ornamental Approach to The Park

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 24—All the public spirited citizens of Indiana are not dead rumors to the contrary, declares Richard Lieber, director of conservation in Indiana, in announcing the gift to the state through his department of a strip of land to be used for easing and making safe an approach to a new entrance to Turkey Run State Park.

Acquisition of the land came through the generosity of Claude Robinson, prominent farmer of Parke county, and was announced to Mr. Lieber when he called on him.

The land in question lies at the intersection of the Veedersburg-Chicago highway and the road leading to the present entrance to Turkey Run park. The conservation department is preparing to open an entrance to the state park across land recently added to the reserve and obtained after long court litigation. Aside from the dangerous road intersection, the north and south road at the park corner dips down over a steep hill. The highway is made more difficult and hazardous to traffic at this point because of a high embankment at the cross roads, and also a telephone pole standing at the corner. This situation prevents one seeing the new entrance until virtually upon it, and then the driver's attention is or should be directed solely on making the dangerous and sharp turn.

By the gift of this strip of land 30x80 feet the conservation department will widen the roadway, get away the embankment and make a safe and ornamental approach to the park.

Mr. Robinson's magnanimity in donating this land to the state to enhance the value of the state park and also to render safe traffic at this point, is indeed commendable. "It is such a spirit that will eventually obtain for Indiana a veritable chain of state parks stretching from the primitive, rugged pictureland of Brown county to the broad, sweeping expanses in the northern Indiana dunes," Mr. Lieber declares.

PERFECT POWDER THAT IS 14 PERCENT BOOZE

Munich, Germany, Discovers Product Good as Rhine Wine and Not Contrary to U. S. Law

COST $2 FOR 2 GALLON AND 1/2

(By United Press)
Richmond, Ind., Nov. 24—Fourteen percent booze in powder form—the bootlegger's dream came true.

From Munich, Germany, came the word that a powder product has been perfected "good as Rhine wine and still not contrary to the alcohol laws of the United States."

The announcement was sent to several merchants here and it said in part:

"You must be 'fed up' of constantly drinking soda water. We on the continent who are accustomed to indulging in wines, liquors, brandies and all the best kinds of beer can realize this with you.

"Wine in the family circle or that of our friends put us in an agreeable mood."

The powder may be kept in a dry territory for any length of time, according to the announcement.

"We wish to particularly draw your attention to the fact that we do not send you alcohol but a substance without alcohol and a recipe by means of which you can prepare a full bodied wine with about 14 percent alcohol without adding a drop of alcohol."

It costs a dollar for two gallons and a half.

Amount Will Help Eliminate Tuberculosis if Work is Over Sufficient Time

WOULD SAVE MANY LIVES

Indiana Tuberculosis Association Has Charge of 1921 Sale of Double-Barred Xmas Seals

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 24—The Indiana Tuberculosis Association, which has in charge the 1921 sale of Double-Barred Christmas Seals throughout the ninety-two counties of Indiana, in co-operation with the local anti-tuberculosis associations, estimated to-day that "based on conclusions reached as a result of the famous Framingham demonstration, $2 per capita per annum will buy excellent health protection for a community, and will go a long way towards eliminating tuberculosis, if the work is extended over a sufficient length of time".

The statement continued: "Taking the population of the United States as a whole, and extending the payment over ten years, this would mean an investment of approximately two billion dollars. In other words by paying that amount of money—less than the cost of one issue of Liberty Bonds during the war—we could save thousands of lives in America, and a steady drain on the population of a million active cases of tuberculosis.

"If tuberculosis could be entirely conquered, the actual saving in dollars and cents, after deducting the investment of two billion, could be placed at 23 billion dollars. We also would add on an average 2 1/2 years of life to every American citizen. Thus, money spent in anti-tuberculosis work is an investment on which returns are tenfold. And the share of the individual American in such a program—if everybody would buy his or her share of the Christmas Seals—would be but $2 a year, or less than 4 cents a week.

MAY BE GREATEST THANKSGIVING DAY

Success of Arms Limitation Conference Would Make This Possible, Minister Asserts

ANNUAL UNION SERVICES

Rev. Walter L. Kunkel Points Out Greatest Problem is Far East and Pacific Questions

"America has the dominant position and only needs to say the word, Fair play, disarm, peace, and this will be the greatest Thanksgiving Day ever celebrated in America."

With this thought, uppermost, the Rev. Walter L. Kunkel, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, preached the annual Thanksgiving sermon at the union services held at the First United Presbyterian church this morning. The arms limitation conference and the questions confronting it was his theme.

He pointed out that this will be a Thanksgiving time for the whole world as well as the United States if the aims of the arms conference prevail, and discussed in detail the big problem confronting the conference, the Pacific, and Far East question.

The pastor said the thing which was demanding solution was the danger of conflict between the white and yellow races, speaking in part as follows:

This will be a Thanksgiving time for the entire world as well as our own country if the first real material step is taken toward disarmament and peace as suggested by our Secretary of State, Mr. Hughes. Diplomats are now inclined to listen to the moral and spiritual forces involved rather than just national and economic aggrandizement, remembering with Matthew Arnold "that by moral forces nations rise and fall".

As the Atlantic war cloud and smoke of battle clears away leaving devastation and ruin, and even greater problem comes to the fore in the Pacific. China instead of the Balkans is now the bone of contention. There must be a complete change in the attitude of the leading nations toward China and a beginning made to undo the wrongs done her in the past eighty years.

Two elements bring this war cloud near, the "White Peril" as viewed from the angle of Japan and China; and the rise of Japan as a world power representing the people of Asia with the thought of "Asia for the Asiatics."

The "White Peril" may be thus Continued on Page Three

JAMES M. GWINN, 74, DIES THIS MORNING

Veteran of Two Wars Expires at His Home Here Following Illness of Two Years

ORGANIZED 161ST INFANTRY

James M. Gwinn, age 74 years, a veteran of the Civil War and the Spanish American War, died this morning about six o'clock at his late residence 110 North Perkins street, death being caused from a complication of diseases, following declining health for two years.

He was born in Carroll county on October 3, 1847. He enlisted in Co. E, 11th Indiana regiment in 1863, and served for almost a year in the Civil War, and joined Company A as a private in 1864 where he served until September 4, 1865. He recruited Company H, 161st Indiana Volunteer Infantry for the Spanish American War and served with it as captain until April 30, 1899.

He was married to Rebecca Gray, daughter of the late George Gray, in 1874, and she died a few years ago. The deceased is survived only by relatives by marriage. About a year ago he underwent a serious operation, which prolonged his life, but on account of his advanced age, he failed to recover entirely. The funeral arrangements have not been made.

TRAFFIC IS OPENED TODAY

C. I. & W. Restores Services at Noon Following Wreck Wednesday

Traffic on the C. I. & W. railroad was opened shortly before noon today, when the wreckage of 20 freight cars near Liberty was cleared away. A portion of a bridge was torn away by the wreck which happened early yesterday morning. Passenger trains yesterday and last night were detoured from Cottage Grove over the C. & O. to Richmond and down to this city over the Pennsylvania. The passenger and mail train due here this morning at seven from Chicago also was detoured from this city today, but the track was opened shortly before noon so that the trains could be operated through the wreckage.

C. W. CAUBLE WILL ARRIVE HERE FRIDAY

Will Come in Advance of Big Flatrock Church Dedication to Make Preliminary Arrangements

SERVICES TO BE HELD SUNDAY

The Rev. C. W. Cauble of Indianapolis will arrive in Rushville tomorrow to make preparations for the dedication of the Big Flatrock Christian church, which will be held Sunday at an all day meeting. Services will be held in the morning and afternoon and a basket dinner will be served in the basement of the new edifice.

The Rev. Mr. Cauble will meet with the pastor of the church, the Rev. W. T. Crawley, and all of the men of the congregation, in the basement of the church Friday evening for the purpose of organizing for the dedicatory service.

The new building has just been completed, having been erected around the old frame church. It is of brick construction and contains all improvements common to a modern house of worship. The building committee which was in charge of construction is as follows: Grant Miller, chairman; Jesse Hungerford, secretary; Robert Campbell, treasurer; Alva Hungerford and Elmer E. Hungerford. The building was started last summer. Invitations have been sent throughout the county and a large attendance is expected.

EDGING BACK TO PROSPERITY--DAVIS

Secretary of Labor in Thanksgiving Day Message Says it is Time for Giving Thanks

UNEMPLOYMENT IS LESS

(By United Press) Washington, Nov. 24—"Slowly but surely we are edging back to prosperity," so declared Secretary of Labor Davis in a Thanksgiving statement to the United Press today.

"It is truly time for giving thanks," he said. "With times still as sluggish as they are it may be asked what it is that we have to be thankful for? The answer is that the present condition of our country is vastly better than it was in mid-summer. This statistical records amply prove.

"Slowly but surely we are edging back to prosperity and although the road ahead is still rough and although the point is of importance, we have much reason to have high encouragement.

"Unemployment is less. More men are at work. Merchants are reporting sales in greater number. The mills have more and larger orders. All over the country a better spirit prevails. Gradually industry is reviving. Buying is being restored.

"A return to prosperity has unmistakably set it. Considering the state of affairs last summer, the state that gave the most courageous of our leaders grave concern, is reason enough for giving of thanks.

"But having given thanks on Thursday, it is up to us to work all the harder on Friday and every day thereafter."

Thanksgiving

Our hearts are full of praise today,
To Him who built the hills,
And through our land there comes a hush,
Of a sacred song that fills
A nation's heart lifted high in praise,
Thanking the Father of All, for the days,
In bountiful harvest past, He has given,
Where with labor and toil, in hope we have striven.

With Thanksgiving and song to His shrine
we would go,

Our homage and love in gratitude show,
That we, as a nation, our God will trust;
For by His great power and wisdom we must
Be guided in all that is good and upright,
To keep our dear land in truth and the light,
To help other nations, this grand vision see,
Until the whole earth from war shall be free.

PLAN TO MINIMIZE THE HORROR OF WAR

American Advisory Committee at Work Upon Various Suggestions to Bring Question Before Parley

PROPOSED NATIONS UNITE

At Conclusion of Program Arms Conference Might Consider Revision of the Rules of War

By LAWRENCE MARTIN
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Nov. 24.—Out of the arms conference may come proposals that the nations unite to minimize the horrors of war, if they cannot entirely prevent it.

The American advisory committee appointed by President Harding to assist the American delegation was today at work upon various suggestions which may bring this question before the conference.

Steps to prevent the use of poisonous gas in warfare will be considered by the advisory council late today.

Abolition of submarines or limitation of their size; use of poison gases and chemicals in war; the bombing of cities, and the development and use of new weapons were among the questions submitted to sub-committees of the advisory committee.

The suggestion has been made unofficially and informally that at the conclusion of its program the arms conference might well consider revision of the rules of war, so that if conflicts do occur in future, they may be less horrible instead of more so. In this connection it was pointed out today by an American naval officer that developments in aircraft, chemical warfare, construction of destructive bombs and other engineering of war are continuing on the basis of lessons learned in the last war and that even if armaments were limited the next war, should one occur, might well be more destructive than the last.

Consideration by the advisory committee of the abolition of the submarine grows out of Arthur Balfour's suggestion.

Another sub committee was directed to get the reaction of American public opinion to all questions thus far raised.

The Chinese proposals for settlement of the Far East question was referred to the Far East sub committee.

TENSENESS SEEN IN ARMS PARLEY

As America Gives Thanks, Nervous Irritation Appears When Delegates Lay Aside Politeness

HUGHES AS BALANCE WHEEL

Little Apprehension of Clashes so Long as Secretary of State Stays With Conference Text

(By United Press) Washington, Nov. 24.—An atmosphere of nervous irritation preceded the arms limitation conference today as America was giving thanks for what has already been accomplished by it. This was due largely to the fact that for the first time the delegates had begun to lay aside their diplomatic super-politeness and talking the way they think.

With Secretary Hughes acting as the balance wheel to the conference and insisting that it sticks to its text, both on the armament and Far Eastern questions, there was little apprehension that various clashes of interest would not be adjusted.

For the moment, however, a slight tendency toward tenseness was noticeable. China and Britain were having an argument, mostly outside the conference, as to whether or not Britain is seeking specific provisions with respect to China's finance and trade. A British spokesman, with no official position, told newspaper men his government construed the proposals on China as meaning China would be under control of an international fiscal commission.

The Chinese, said Briand, had not expressed that viewpoint in the conference. Minister Sze, speaking for Chinese delegates, said that Briand's plan, as it prevails, would put his country under foreign control, only a step, he said, from actual political domination.

The French and Chinese also have a tilt. The French want to know what credentials the Chinese delegates had that entitled it to speak Continued on Page Three

CHARLES LAKIN, 21, IS DEAD

Young Man Expires After Illness With Tuberculosis

Charles Lakin, age 21 years, son of Mrs. Eva Lakin, died last night about six o'clock at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Lakin, with whom he made his home. The deceased had been ill for several years with tuberculosis. He was the son of the late Harry Lakin, who died a few years ago. Besides the mother and grandparents, he is survived by a brother Robert, who lives in Indianapolis.

The funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at two o'clock at the late residence, 824 N. Main street, in charge of the Rev. L. E. Brown, and burial will take place in East Hill cemetery.

NINETY-THREE AT THE ANNUAL BANQUET

Members of Rush County Horse Thief Detective Association in Yearly Gathering

PAST PRESIDENT SPEAKER

Ninety-three men enjoyed the annual banquet of the Rush County Horse Thief Detective association at the Knights of Pythias building Wednesday evening. The principal address was made by James R. Martin of Jamestown, Ind., past president of the National Horse Thief Detective association, who spoke of the activities of the association and gave members here a new insight into the organization.

Previous to the banquet eighteen new members were initiated into the county association at the courthouse. The banquet was served by the Pythian Sisters and Will McMillin, president of the county association, presided as toastmaster.

Short talks were made by Will Alexander, the Rev. James L. Brown of Arlington, a member of the class taken in last night, William A. Young of this city, Chief of Police Wilfong, Sheriff E. M. Jones and others.

WANT R. R. STATION IN WILLIAMSTOWN

Public Service Commission Hears Petition of Citizens For Depot Facilities in the Town

BIG FOUR MAKES OBJECTION

Attorney Matthews for the Indiana Public Service Commission held a hearing at Williamstown yesterday afternoon on the matter of the petition of Orlando Lee and others against the Big Four Railroad Company for station facilities at Williamstown.

Six representatives of the railroad company were present at the hearing and presented the company's side of the case. The railroad men were from Cincinnati and Wabash. They set out that the station which would require an agent, would be too costly since under the union rules, the company would have to pay an agent at least $125 per month.

Forty or fifty farmers were on hand and gave their views. Dr. Beall, Die Farlow, Orlando Lee, Walter Sefton and Mr. Arbuckle of the Milroy Tile Company were among those who spoke for the farmers who are petitioning for the station.

The station was abandoned by the railroad several years ago when the regular agent was pensioned. The commission will render a decision in a few days.

Robert C. Porter of Cincinnati, attorney for the Big Four, talked for the railroad company. He brought for his witnesses Messrs. Lamb and Merz of Cincinnati; Messrs. Browning and Randall of Indianapolis; Trautman Breccort of the Michigan division and Conductor Thomas. The hearing lasted two hours.

ORGANIZATION TO START NEXT WEEK

Canvassers For U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., Will Visit Every Township During Canvass

TOWNSHIP MEETINGS PLANNED

Organization is Non-Stock, Non-Profit Association to Handle and Sell Grain For Farmers.

A canvass for members in the U. S. Grain Growers, Incorporated, will be started in Rush county next week, it was announced today. Organizers will organize the county by townships, using the same methods as have been employed in Fayette and other counties in this section of the state.

The plan is to hold a meeting in each township in the county, at which the U. S. Grain Growers, Incorporated, will be fully explained by competent speakers, and afterwards each farmer in the township will be solicited to become a member.

James Covert of Franklin will be in charge of the organizers who have been assigned to this county, and he will be assisted by Scott Buell and Howard Ewbank of this county and Sam Gaddis of Columbus. Richland township will be the first organized.

The U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., is a non-stock, non-profit association. It will handle and sell grain at cost for its farmer members. No one but a farmer can be a member, sell grain through it or hold office in it. There is no money for any one to make any money out of it except the members themselves who grow the grain.

The U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., is not designed to upset existing commercial institutions. It is not an attempt to either create a monopoly or fix prices. It is imperative, however, that, if production is to be maintained and the people of the United States are to be fed at reasonable costs, agriculture must be placed on a sound business basis. Recognizing those facts, the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., provides the facilities for the grain growers of this country to enter upon a program of conducting their own business, in a business-like way. With that end in view, the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., will: Stabilize prices on a profitable level by steady marketing as demand warrants and by contracts direct with mills and other consumers.

Eliminate short selling and manipulated markets by keeping grain in the farmers control until sold to a legitimate buyer.

Merchandise grain products in a business-like way comparable to that employed in other industries.

Export or pool for export grain not needed for domestic consumption so that speculators can not use a bounteous harvest to beat down the price at harvest time to a ruinous figure.

Furnish credit through the subsidiary finance corporation to grain growers who do not want to sell their crops at harvest time.

Learn the true condition of foreign supply and demand and avoid manipulation that has been made possible by false market reports.

Clean, mix, re-grade and condition the farmers grain in farm-owned conditioning plants.

Eliminate unnecessary and duplicated freight and handling charges by shipping grain direct from the country station to the miller or exporter.

Pro-rate the savings made by efficient and economic marketing back to the farmer in proportion to the amounts and grades of grain which he sold through the company.

BIG GRAIN SHOW OPENS IN CHICAGO

G. I. Christie of Purdue Comments on Value of Annual Grain and
Hay Show Exhibits

$10,000 PREMIUM LIST

International Grain Exposition Will
Have 6,000 Entries in The Corn
Show Department

(By United Press)

Chicago, Nov. 24—The gates will swing open, Saturday November 26, on the most comprehensive assortment of grain and forage crops ever brought together. The number of samples at this year's International Grain and Hay Show, which is held in connection with the International Livestock Exposition, will approach the 6,000 mark.

"The annual Grain and Hay Show," said Prof. G. I. Christie, Purdue University, superintendent of the exhibit, "has already demonstrated its tremendous value in the encouragement of better agriculture and better country life. It means increased yields, less waste and greater prosperity."

For years there had been an urgent need for an international grain exposition. After attempts to make the show self-supporting had failed, the Chicago Board of Trade volunteered to post a $10,000 premium list for the best samples exhibited. This brought spontaneous success.

Since then Board has twice renewed its offer, and the event now seems destined to become a permanent institution. It is sponsored and aided by the federal and provincial government of two national and by the leading crop organizations of the western world. The fact that it is conducted not for profit but solely in the interest of agriculture accounts for the united support received from all farm organizations.

More than a thousand ten-ear samples of corn form a part of the exhibit. Premiums are offered for single and ten-ear samples each of white and yellow corn; for exhibits of wheat, oats, barley, rye, soybeans, cowpeas and field peas, and for samples of seed and hay, including red clover and sweet clover, alfalfa and timothy. One of the new features this year is a Junior Corn Contest participated in by several hundred boys.

At the entrance of the Grain and Hay Show a giant ear of corn will stand sentinel. It is thirty feet high. Sixty bushels of corn were required to build the freak. It is known as the "Dream of the Corn Farmer".

There will be miniature farms, complete in every detail. The exhibit of the United States Department of Agriculture, which covered 3,000 square feet last year, will be even larger this year. Luther Burbank and other wizards of the soil will be represented by exhibits. One of these shows the evolution of corn from Indiana grass. Burbank accomplished in a few years the same result which took the Indians centuries to attain.

Canada's entry list and delegation of field experts will be 50 percent larger than last year.

The first continental congress met in Philadelphia September 5, 1774.

TO BAND TOGETHER TO TIDE FARMERS OVER

Farmers of Midwest Consider
This as an Alternative if Bankers Refuse to Loan Money

TO MEET BANKERS TUESDAY

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 24.—Farmers of the middle west may band together into a mutual benefit organization for the purpose of tiding members over the period of low market prices and "tight money".

E. E. Reynolds, secretary of the Indiana Federation of Farmer's Association, intimated this was under consideration as an alternative if the bankers refuse to loan money to the farmers many of whom face bankruptcy if they are forced to sell their crops at prevailing prices in order to liquidate obligations.

The farmers are looking forward to their conference with the bankers next Tuesday. Results of this meeting will determine whether the farmers shall form a financing body of their own and sell shares in it.

The meeting will be confined to Indiana, but farmers throughout the middle west are watching it with interest because if it terminates for the benefit of the Indiana farmers similar action likely will be taken in other states.

Eugene Meyer, managing director of the War Finance Corporation, will try to bring the farmers and the bankers together here under a plan by which the bankers obtain money from the corporation and loan it to the farmers. In this way the bankers would be merely distributors of financial aid for the federal government.

"MAIN STREET" ACTOR SHOPS ON MAIN STREET

Leading Man With New York Show,
Drops off in Noblesville and Buys
His Entire Costume

AND ON MAIN STREET TOO

Noblesville, Ind., Nov. 24.—This city is lavishing its pride on the rest of the world today.

McKay Morris who plays the part of the Gopher Prairie "medic" Dec. Kennicott, in "Main Street" at the National Theatre, New York, bought his third act bed room togery here—all of it!

As Morris was motoring through here, with a friend he espied a pair of pink striped pajamas hanging in a store window.

"There is Doc, Kennicott's nightie", he exclaimed as he slammed on the brakes.

"Yes, and there is his bath robe," replied his friend.

A green spotted bath robe was decorating a charming wax figure with little blond mustache.

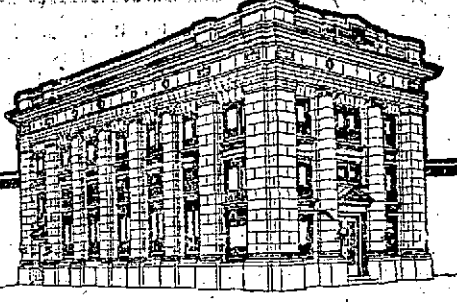

Lorris made these purchases and he found Noblesville so auspicious a costuming center went to other stores on Main street and bought a suit, shoes—in fact everything he wears in the play.

Thus—great is the glory which has been thrust upon this city!

Don't Burn Good Fuel in a Poor Stove.

PEPSINCO

It's a useless waste of good fuel and needless extravagance to try to burn it in a poor stove. It is absolutely wrong to expect good food to supply energy, vitality, health and happiness, if your stomach won't absorb and assimilate it. If you cannot eat with enjoyment; if your food does you no good; if food distresses, rather than benefits, then you have indigestion or dyspepsia. The best remedy to use is PEP SINCO.

Ask your druggist—he sells and recommends Pepsinco.

You want the fun of looking over the things to get ideas—then wrapping the presents with your own hands. Oh, there's a lot of joy in Christmas shopping as well as Christmas giving. The joy is in early shopping while the stocks are complete.

Go to the store in your own town early. See if your merchant has what you want. If by any chance he cannot supply you come to Rushville, where the greatest preparation in years has been made for Christmas.

You have another pleasant surprise coming too. For not only have the Rushville merchants provided this opportunity but they are offering you these attractive gifts just as cheaply as you could buy them anywhere.

The merchants of Rushville have gone into the markets of the world and brought here for your selection hundreds of items. There are gifts from many lands, gifts for every purpose, for every age.

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During those years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c.

ADJOURNS AND FATTY FEASTS

Court Not Held Today in Arbuckle Manslaughter Case Account of The Holiday

STRANGE CONTRAST IS SEEN

Fat Comedian Has Many Things to be Thankful For, Among Them Testimony of Medical Expert

San Francisco, Calif., Nov. 24.—The court had a rest today while Roscoe Arbuckle destroyed a huge Thanksgiving dinner. The big comedian's trial, on the charge of having taken the life of Virginia Rappe, stood adjourned until tomorrow morning.

Behind drawn blinds of his brother's modest home here, the man whose holiday parties were at one time the talk of the city, was to eat Thanksgiving turkey with no lack of cake favorites or rollicking coterie of friends gathered at the table.

His wife, Minta Durfee, his brother, Arthur, and wife and possibly intimate friends were to make up what probably is Arbuckle's quietest Thanksgiving in decades.

The big man had more reasons to be thankful, than at any time since Virginia Rappe's death. His particular thanks was due to Dr. Asa Collins, nationally known medical expert who aided Arbuckle in a technical and largely unprintable testimony late yesterday.

Collins, the first of the medical experts the defense is expected to call, laid the basis for these contentions that Virginia Rappe received her fatal injuries in a hypodermic given her in an attempt to stop her hysterics after Arbuckle's alleged attack; that dancing and other activities might have caused her injury; that the rupture from which she died may have been spontaneous; that many of these explanations were rendered possible through the effects of drinking a combination of gin and orange juice of which she is known to have partaken.

FURS STOLEN FROM EXPRESS

Car on Pennsylvania Train Looted Near Charlottesville

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 24.—An express car on the Pennsylvania railroad was looted of valuable furs between Charlottesville and Indianapolis last night, the police were informed today.

The furs were consigned from New York to St. Louis and their value can not be determined until the car reaches St. Louis and a check-up is made.

The conductor on the train said the seal had not been broken at Charlottesville where the train stopped for a few minutes. Police believe the thieves threw their loot out of the car while the train was moving. Several bundles of fur were cut open.

IS FOUND GUILTY BY JURY

Charley Davis of Center township, who stood trial yesterday afternoon in Justice Stech's court, was found guilty of an attempted assault by the jury, and they assessed his fine at $6 and costs. The case occupied the greater part of the afternoon. There are two charges pending against the defendant, one being for trespass and the other for profanity, and they will be tried at an early date. Each side used several witnesses, the state having 16 and the defense 12. Tittsworth and Tittsworth, attorneys, appeared for the defendant, and Prosecutor Stevens presented the case for the state.

MAY BE GREATEST THANKSGIVING DAY

concealed. One-third of the population of the earth controls nine-tenths of the habitable area. In 1500 the White race controlled only one-tenth of the area of the earth, but with the aid of the invention of the compass and gunpowder by the Chinese, started on a military and naval career taking the Americas, Australia the most of Africa and a large part of Asia. China is looked upon as containing the most money of all waiting for the White race only to extract it. Her cheap labor and vast mineral resources tempt avaricious nations as the Yukon did the gold hunter. In 1842 England after the infamous opium war established a large sphere of influence in China, to be followed by Russia and France. The indignant Chinaman revolted in what was called the Boxer uprising in 1900 only to get deeper into the meshes of the net of the White Race. For not only did he have to pay a huge indemnity but Germany also took over the Shantung province and fastened her teeth in a part of the juicy bone of contention. A Christian Japanese statesman said the other day to a missionary, "The white race has taken the world from Alaska to Australia and shut us out. We must have a place in Asia for economic and racial expansion, but you do not want us to have it, you want Asia too. Does the White Race want the whole earth?"

The expansion of the White race has arrived at the gates of Japan and has met this worthy and indignant antagonist who also wants a large share in the spoil of China and learns her methods of militarism and navalism from her white brethren. The white nations have in fact forced the hands of the Japanese.

In 1894 China and Japan went to war with respect as to which should control Korea which country was then in a bad state of affairs. Japan won the war and proceeded to the control of Korea, but Russia, Germany and France formed an alliance and told Japan to get out Japan had to comply. What followed, these three nations took part of China for themselves and Russia pushed right down to Port Arthur as a dagger pointed at the heart of Japan. The Russo-Japanese war ensued, Russia was forced to withdraw. Is it any wonder the people of Japan believe in their army and navy as their only hope of protection, especially when history teaches them that the white race has taken nine-tenths of the habitable world and is still in the process of taking the rest?

Our Country is the hope of the world to those who believe in considering fair play rather than national selfishness and the unscrupulous exploitation of the weak. We have had no part in the division of China, yet our hands are not altogether clean. We have had a large territory of our own to exploit, and we still have our hands on the Philippines. Our country has spoken for the open door in China. If our country now demands that Japan withdraw soon from China the same demand should be made to other nations who hold a part of China's territory. Give China the same chance we have given Mexico. America has the dominant position and only needs to say the word "Fair Play", Disarm, Peace, and this will be the greatest Thanksgiving Day ever celebrated in America. The brotherhood of man and the fatherhood of God will be brought much nearer realization in the hearts of mankind.

TENSENESS SEEN IN ARMS PARLEY

For all of China, inasmuch as the Canton government does not recognize the authority of Peking, where the Chinese delegation has its credentials.

The Chinese produced complete credentials and replied they represented in one way at least the universal sentiment of China—that other nations should leave her alone to work out her own destination.

Italy spoke sharply to France regarding land armament at a meeting of the committee on land armament during which Premier Briand, as a farewell to the conference, again discussed France's military position. Schanzer, the Italian delegate, told the French and the rest of the conference that Italy was disturbed about the land armament on account of the big armies being maintained in Jugo Slovakia, Serbia, Greece, France and Poland.

—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hall of Shelbyville came last night for a week-end visit with relatives in this city.
